

Energy Course invites you to the online lecture on:

U.S. CLEAN ENERGY POLICY & COLLABORATION WITH JAPAN

29 November 2021

17:00 - 18:00 JST
via ZOOM

What does U.S. federal clean energy policy look like?

How far has the U.S. already come in its energy transition?

How are the U.S. and Japan working together to promote energy transition, bilaterally and in third countries?

Benjamin Foster

Director, DOE Japan Office
Senior Energy Attaché, U.S. Embassy Tokyo

Ben leads a team in advancing DOE's energy, science, and non-proliferation priorities in Japan. They also support Mission Japan's equities with technical, policy, and market expertise.

Prior to his current position, Ben was an economist at the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. In 2016-2017 he was seconded to Japan's Ministry of Energy, Trade and Industry as a Mansfield Fellow. Ben holds an M.A. in International Environmental Policy from the Middlebury Institute of International Studies, and a B.A. from the University of Virginia.
